

39th Annual Applied Linguistics Winter Conference (ALWC 2018)

We have the honor to grant exclusive extension to all NYSTESOL members and ALWC presenters for submitting your proposals by February 25, 2018. This is the final extension granted by ALWC 2018 Committee.

The theme for this year's conference is Culturally Relevant Pedagogy. This conference provides our colleagues with an opportunity to show us their student centered approach with a focus on promoting and nurturing the student's identity within the institution, the classroom or at home.

Sponsored by: NYS TESOL Applied Linguistics SIG

Saturday, April 21, 2018 (new date!!)

Teachers College, Columbia University

<http://www.nystesol.org/ALWC2018>

We invite proposals for 30-minute presentations (20-minute talk and 10-minute Q&A), and 40-minute workshops on original research or pedagogical practices. We also invite proposals for poster presentations, all of which will be displayed for a one-hour session. Poster presentations are intended to be a format for reports of work in progress. Although preference will be given to proposals related to the conference theme, submissions relevant to applied linguistics are still encouraged.

We invite all teachers, researchers, and students to submit a proposal for the conference consideration.

Submit your proposals online at <https://tinyurl.com/2018-ALWC-proposals>

Exclusive Extension Deadline: Feb 25, 2018

By 11:59 EST

For questions or further information, please contact the ALWC 2018 Conference Co-Chairs: Karoline Kaon and Derek Baylor at 2018_cochairs@alwc.nystesol.org